

DAVIDSON WAS MADE GOVERNOR

Sworn Into Office This Noon With As Little Ceremony As Possible.

NEW STATE OFFICERS TAKE PLACES

Judge Cassoday Reads The Oath Of Office To The Choice Of The People In The Assembly Chamber At Noon.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Madison, Wis., Jan. 7.—James O. Davidson became governor of the state of Wisconsin by the right of election when at noon today he ascended to the constitutional oath as administered by Chief Justice J. B. Cassoday. For the past year Governor Davidson has held the office by succession, taking the place as lieutenant governor upon the resignation of Governor R. M. La Follette, who became United States senator.

The inauguration ceremony took place in the assembly chamber, gaily decorated for the occasion and filled with the leading citizens of the state and many members of the legislature which convenes Wednesday noon for the regular biennial session.

It is asserted unofficially that Governor Davidson will from this time forth take a departure from the line of policy he has followed during the past year, having felt somewhat held to carry out the purposes of his predecessor. Now he is governor by his own right, it is said by his friends that Governor Davidson proposes to follow absolutely his own judgment, and that his course will be more independent and variant from the La Follette trail, Governor Davidson originated a number of the so-called Wisconsin reforms, but none of his ideas have been wrought into legislation just as he would have them. He preferred to be far less drastic and radical than Governor La Follette, but followed that leader faithfully for many years as La Follette represented his views most nearly of all the men in the Wisconsin political arena. It is learned, however, that much of the bitterness of the several La Follette campaigns were utterly distasteful to Governor Davidson, and he always maintained friendships that were looked upon with suspicion by La Follette. The message which Governor Davidson will deliver to the legislature this week will point a new way of legislation with respect to public service corporations. It will not be a positive desertion of the way of La Follette, but will be more reasonable, sane and safe, say the friends of the governor.

The ceremony today was one of impressive simplicity and dignity. The citizens placed in high public service are as follows: Governor James O. Davidson of Soldiers Grove, succeeding himself in that office.

W. D. Connor, Marshfield, inaugurated as lieutenant governor, filling a vacancy which has existed since Lieutenant Governor Davidson became governor a year ago.

James A. Frear, Hudson, secretary of state, succeeding Walter L. Houser, Mondovi, who has held the office for the past four years.

Andrew H. Dahl, Westby, state treasurer, taking the place of John J. Kempf of Milwaukee, treasurer for the past four years.

Frank L. Gilbert, Madison, succeeding L. M. Shurdevant of Neillsville, as attorney general.

George E. Beedle, Embarrass, commissioner of insurance, succeeding Zeno M. Host of Milwaukee.

William H. Timlin of Milwaukee succeeded George W. Bird.

In accordance with the wish of Governor Davidson the usual big gymnasium reception and ball will be omitted and in its place will be held a reception at the executive mansion on East Eighth street, the hours being from 8 to 11 this evening. Mrs. Davidson will be hostess, assisted by the governor and other state officers and ladies in the receiving line. Colonel George W. Bird, Colonel W. J. Anderson, Senator O. G. Munson and Professor Julius E. Olson assist as a committee with the introductions along the receiving line. Appropriate reception decorations have been provided, and an orchestra will be present. Private Secretary Munson will be at the head of the receiving line to present the callers to Governor and Mrs. Davidson.

SOUTHERN CITIES WANT SUB TREASURY

Senators and Congressmen of Dixie in Conference Regarding Location.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Washington, D. C., Jan. 7.—It is said that half a dozen cities of the south have their ears to the institute of architects, met here today, the occasion being the annual meeting of the organization. The sessions will last through Wednesday. The present meeting is of more than ordinary interest as it marks the semi-centennial of the institute. Of the members living two joined the society during the first twenty years of its existence there are but fifty-one. A bronze tablet is to be unveiled commemorating the founders, and a gold medal is to be given to Sir Astor Webb, president of the Royal Institute of British Architects, for his achievements as an architect. Wednesday night the convention will conclude with a grand banquet at New Willard. President Roosevelt, the members of his cabinet, foreign ambassadors, senators and representatives in congress are to be the guests of the society, besides distinguished architects, painters and sculptors, and prominent representatives of the universities and institutions of learning.

SENATOR LODGE MAKES A VERY GOOD DEFENSE TODAY

Takes Roosevelt's Side In Dismissal Of The Colored Troops For Brownsville Affair.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Washington, D. C., Jan. 7.—Senator Lodge in a speech today on the Brownsville incident, in an argument at length, said that the President as the constitutional commander in chief of the army and navy had not exceeded his authority, citing numerous authorities in support of the contention.

Mr. Lodge said: "Two questions are here involved, a question of fact and a question of law. They are entirely distinct, they ought to be settled separately and neither should be permitted to cloud or obscure the other in the public mind. The question of fact may be stated in this way. There was shooting in the streets of Brownsville on the night of Aug. 13, 1906, houses were fired into, one man was killed and the lieutenant or police had his horse shot from under him and was so severely wounded in the arm that amputation was necessary. These facts are admitted and are not disputed by anyone. This shooting was done by some one, it was done either by U. S. soldiers from Fort Brown, or by inhabitants of the town of Brownsville. There was no one else and it is not pretended that there is anyone else who could have done it. The President, the secretary of war, and the officers of the army detailed to inquire into the affair have decided that the shooting was done by the soldiers and furnish testimony to sustain their opinion. The constitution league representing the soldiers, deny that the shooting was done by them and assert that it was done by the citizens of Brownsville disguised in cast off uniforms of the troops and provided with exploded shells from the government ranges who committed this outrage for the purpose of casting odium on the troops of Fort Brown. One of these two propositions must be proved for general negotiations are of no use here. It will be the duty of the committee under the resolution to take all possible testimony and decide whether this shooting was done by the soldiers or by citizens of Brownsville. This is the question of fact. In it is involved not only the innocence or the guilt of the soldiers, but the innocence or guilt of the inhabitants of Brownsville, for if they did the shooting as charged by the constitution league they were engaged in a plot to ruin innocent men and did not shrink from murder to carry that plot into successful execution. Whether the United States soldiers or the inhabitants of Brownsville did the shooting on the night of Aug. 13 is the question of fact and on that as a member of the committee, and the senate, I have no opinion to express until I have heard and examined all possible testimony. "The question of law is whether the shooting was done by the soldiers and furnish testimony to sustain their opinion. It will be the duty of the committee under the resolution to take all possible testimony and decide whether this shooting was done by the soldiers or by citizens of Brownsville. This is the question of fact. In it is involved not only the innocence or the guilt of the soldiers, but the innocence or guilt of the inhabitants of Brownsville, for if they did the shooting as charged by the constitution league they were engaged in a plot to ruin innocent men and did not shrink from murder to carry that plot into successful execution. Whether the United States soldiers or the inhabitants of Brownsville did the shooting on the night of Aug. 13 is the question of fact and on that as a member of the committee, and the senate, I have no opinion to express until I have heard and examined all possible testimony. "The question of law is whether the shooting was done by the soldiers and furnish testimony to sustain their opinion. The constitution league representing the soldiers, deny that the shooting was done by them and assert that it was done by the citizens of Brownsville disguised in cast off uniforms of the troops and provided with exploded shells from the government ranges who committed this outrage for the purpose of casting odium on the troops of Fort Brown. One of these two propositions must be proved for general negotiations are of no use here. A New Stomach

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets Restore Lifeless Organs to Normal Condition.

A TRIAL PACKAGE FREE.

Many a sufferer from Dyspepsia, indigestion and kindred ailments of the digestive organs carries around an absolutely useless stomach—a dead load, and a cesspool for ever-increasing disorders. The muscles are seemingly worn out, the mucous lining has lost its secretory power, and food taken into the stomach lies there unfermented, causing sour eructations, belching, heartburn, dizziness and other distressing conditions. Many sufferers have given up in despair until they have been induced by some interested friend to try a box of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are the dyspeptic's sure and only hope. They are a natural restorative of healthy action to the stomach and small intestines, because they supply just the elements that the weak stomach lacks—pepsin, diastase, golden seal and other digestives.

If you are afflicted with any of the symptoms above described, be assured that your digestive organs are losing power—they need help and there is no more sensible help to be given them than to supply elements which will do the work of digestion for them.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets have been found by the test of reputable physicians in the United States and Great Britain to have remarkable digestive powers, one grain of the active principle of these tablets being sufficient to digest 3,000 grains of ordinary food. It is plain that no matter what the condition of your stomach, or how far your disease has progressed, one only of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets taken at meal time will do the work—give your stomach an opportunity to regain its lost powers, the muscles will be strengthened, the glands invigorated, and you will be a new man.

It costs nothing to prove the effectiveness of this cure. Send for a free sample package today. F. A. Stuart Co., 7 Stuart Bldg., Marshall, Mich. All druggists sell Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets at 50 cents a box.

drunkenness; F. Klingberg, serving a 15-day term for drunkenness; Julius Panka of Evansville, serving a 60-day term for drunkenness; Sam Johnson of Beloit, serving a 70-day term for assault and battery; Patrick Smith, serving a 30-day sentence for assault; C. Oppelt, serving 30 days for drunkenness; Mrs. Elizabeth Mohe, serving a 6-months' sentence for obtaining money under false pretenses; F. Powers, serving 15 days for drunkenness; P. Donnelly, serving 10 days for drunkenness.

Records for Two Years. During the two years of Sheriff Cochrane's term Beloit had a quota of prisoners considerably larger than that of Janesville. In 1905 there were 132 sent up from that turbulent town, while Janesville contributed 121; Edgerton, 11; Onondavo, 2; and Clinton, 1, making a grand total of 267. In 1906 Beloit sent up 156; Janesville, 114; Edgerton, 21; Milton, 2; Clinton, 2; and Evansville, 1, making a grand total of 296. During the two years 28 prisoners were taken to the state's prison at Waupun; 4 to the reformatory at Waushara; 6 to the reformatory at Green Bay; and 2 to the girls' reformatory at Milwaukee.

At a recent meeting of the Women's Relief Corps the following officers were chosen for the new year: President, Mrs. Madeline Winslow; Vice President, Mrs. Eva Scott; Treasurer, Mrs. Algernia Danuth; Junior Vice President, Mrs. Emily Robinson; Chaplain, Mrs. Jeanette Sontag; Conductor, Mrs. Carrie Scribner; Patriotic Instructor, Mrs. George Hansen; Guard, Mrs. John Wolf; Press Correspondent, Mrs. Charles Brown. The above officers will be installed Tuesday evening, January 29th.

BASEBALL LEAGUES

HOLDING MEETINGS

National and American Magnates in Cincinnati and Association Men in New York.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.) Cincinnati, O., Jan. 7.—Big league baseball men were very much in evidence about town today. They included the magnates and a number of managers of National and American league clubs, come to attend the annual meeting of the National commission and the schedule meetings of the two leagues. Several matters in dispute between the two big leagues and with some of the minor organizations are before the National commission for consideration and action. The schedule committee meet in joint conference to eliminate conflict of dates. The schedules prepared will be submitted for ratification at the regular schedule meetings of the two leagues to be held later in New York.

Minor Leagues

New York, Jan. 7.—Members of the National Association of Professional Baseball Clubs, representing more than thirty different leagues throughout the country, are in the city to attend their sixth annual meeting. Preliminary to the meeting of the association proper, which is to be held tomorrow, there was a session of the national board of arbitration at the Fifth Avenue hotel today. The association meeting promises to be the most important ever held by the organization. More than the usual number of matters of vital interest to national association club owners are to be considered and acted upon. August Herrman was elected chairman of the National Baseball Commission, and John F. Bruce secretary. It was agreed by the commission to extend the national agreement and to admit the tri-state league to the class B agreement, which provides all players who jumped contracts and are on the ineligible list of the national commission, shall remain in the tri-state league.

PASSING ON SANITY

OF AGED INVENTOR

Spent 30 Years on Plans for Combined Airship and Yacht and Wants Congressional Appropriation. (SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.) Muskegon, Mich., Jan. 7.—Because he has devoted the most of his time during the past 30 years to working on an airship, Arba B. Kent, an aged resident of this place, was brought into court today to be examined as to his sanity. The proceedings were started by his brother. Kent declares he has plans for an invention of a combined airship and yacht and he wants congress to appropriate $50,000 to perfect the invention.

PIG AS ADJUNCT TO THE DAIRY FARM

Demonstration of Value Comes from Jefferson County—Fort Atkinson News Budget.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.) Fort Atkinson, Jan. 7.—John Wildman has gained the reputation of being the champion hog-raiser of Jefferson county. During the past year he has raised and marketed one hundred and sixty-three hogs, which sold for two thousand and three dollars. He has never bought a pig to feed and he never sells any young pigs. As an adjunct to a dairy farm he says the pig is hard to beat. The high price of pork the past year has brought the business of pig-raising to the front.

REAR-END SMASH AT

MILTON YESTERDAY

Passenger Backed Into Caboose and Engine Standing on Main Track of St. Paul Road.

Because one crew was unfamiliar with the tracks and the other was unaware of that fact a rear-end collision occurred on the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul road just west of Milton yesterday morning. The engine and caboose of the freight, which left Janesville shortly before ten, was standing on the main line when a local passenger backed over from Milton Junction. The freight crew came from the Prairie du Chien division and were ignorant of the methods of making connections at Milton, while the passenger men expected that the line was clear. The passenger was nearly stopped when it crashed into the freight and the baggage car, two coaches and caboose were but slightly injured. The wrecking crew from Janesville was summoned to repair the damage.

BELOIT MAN SUFFERING WITH MYSTERIOUS MALADY. Frank Walsh, Who Is Without Means of Support, Has Been Placed in the County Hospital.

Afflicted with some peculiar malady, the nature of which has not been determined and in a condition so precarious as to demand constant attention, Frank Walsh of Beloit, formerly a butcher for Alexander McGavock of that city, has been placed in the county hospital. He is a man of about fifty years of age and without means of support. Poormaster George Seegmiller and Deputy Sheriff Floyd Carter brought him here last week.

Speaks This Week. Dr. Warren P. Behan greeted old friends yesterday at the Baptist church where he spoke morning and evening. Dr. Behan is a thorough scholar and he presents the truth with simplicity and power. He speaks this evening at seven-thirty o'clock at the Baptist church, and also the remaining evenings of the week—Saturday.

MAY GIVE FREIGHT
RIGHTS TO R. & I.

City Council Will Also Authorize Bond Issue and Hear Attorney's Findings Tonight.

At the regular meeting of the council this evening City Attorney Maxfield is expected to submit an opinion on the question as to whether or not the hold-over aldermen are entitled to receive the $5-a meeting compensation paid to those who were elected last spring. M. G. Jeffris is understood to have given an opinion to certain of the council members to the effect that the hold-overs are legally entitled to the money. While George G. Sutherland and other lawyers are reported to hold an opinion quite the reverse. The city attorney maintains that the council exceeded its authority in sending the mayor to the State League of American Municipalities meeting at Ashland, at the expense of the city, and in making a like provision for the junket of the five hold-over aldermen to Chicago on the occasion of the national meeting there. The mayor's expense account of $50 and the aldermen's of $30 each have, therefore, never been presented. An issue of bonds to cover assessments for the Washington street repairs which property owners have not elected to pay will probably be authorized and it is possible that the ordinance granting to the Rockford & Interurban Co. the right to carry freight, which was introduced and given its first and second reading two years ago, will be brought up for its third reading and passage.

Y. M. C. A. TO HAVE

ONE GAME A WEEK

"The Idlers" to Be Here From Rockford Wednesday, January 16.—Beloit Y. M. C. A. Next.

From now until the end of the season the local Y. M. C. A. basketball team will play on the average of one game a week. As previously announced the five, accompanied by a second team, will go to Watertown this coming Thursday to meet the representatives of the Harmonia club. Next week on Wednesday, the sixteenth, "The Idlers" will come here from Rockford and during the week following that the local players will go to Beloit for a return contest with the Line City association. Among other organizations that dates will be made with by Manager G. C. Harney is the Rockford Y. M. C. A.

TO THE PUBLIC.

The coming performance of "The Flower Girl" at the Myer's Theatre, Wednesday, January 9, will be without a doubt one of the finest musical attractions that has ever been presented in Janesville. It is a high class comic opera, and the original New York cast and production will be brought here intact direct from a most successful four weeks' engagement at the Studebaker Theatre, Chicago. I think this engagement will be appreciated by all who enjoy a strictly first class performance of comic opera.

..Forty Years Ago..

Janesville Daily Gazette, Monday, January 7, 1867.—Admitted to the Bar—Levi Alden, Esq., the recent efficient clerk of the Circuit Court, has been admitted to the bar. Whether he proposes to hang out his shingle and practice law we are not aware.

The Northwestern Advance.—This is the name of a new seven column paper issued in this city, by J. M. May, Esq., and is to be the organ of the Good Templars of the State. The inside, is printed in the Standard, and is rather stale for this latitude, but the outside, which is printed by Mr. Wooder, is as neat as a new pin, and evinces the Mayor's usual ability and zeal in the temperance reform. We wish it abundant success.

Not Deserved.—The disposition manifested in certain quarters to find fault with the boys who "run the machines," for their action at the recent fire at the jail, is decidedly reprehensible. We were present on that occasion and can bear witness to the fact that they did the very best they could, considering the small numbers composing the companies.

The engines are not half manned, but that is no fault of those who do the duty of every citizen. It is the duty of every citizen, if not to enroll his name on the companies' books, to take hold and assist the firemen when the emergency calls for it. We know that it is quite too common a feeling that as there is a fire department it is the exclusive duty to turn out to every fire; but we are free to confess that we do not see why it is not the duty of every other man in the city as theirs. They get no pay for the service they perform and many of them own but little property. Why the burden of responsibility should be thrown entirely upon them puzzles us; but not only so, if we understand the case aright, they are not liberally supplied with the appliances to make the department efficient, even if the companies were full. We think the policy of neglecting any protective measures against fires a bad one, and we fear some day will bear bitter fruit. One thing is certain, which is that the men who are eternally finding fault with the department are the chaps who will put their hand in their trousers at a fire and do the heavy standing around. Mark that.

Before The Footlights.

When "The Helr to the Moorah" comes to the Myers Grand local theatre-goers who have not seen that sprightly comedy may well anticipate a dramatic treat. Two long engagements in Chicago have reinforced the enthusiastic praises which the master work of Paul Armstrong won in New York, Philadelphia, Boston and wherever else it has been presented. Guy Bates Post and James Deocher head the list of a company remarkable for the individual capability of its members.

Coming Soon

In "The Time, the Place and the Girl" Joe Howard, the composer, is said to have excelled in tunefulness his score in "The District Leader," which is generally conceded to be with few peers among musical comedies in point of melody. The more striking numbers in his latest work are "Thursday Is My Jonah Day," "I Don't Like Your Family," "Blow the Smoke Away," "The Waning Honey-moon," "First and Only," "Dixie, I Love You," "It's Lonesome Tonight" and "Don't You Tell."

Louis Harrison

Louis Harrison, whose newest lyric comedy creation, "Mons. Cognard in 'The Flower Girl,' is just now the delight of modern critics, is a young man in years and an old player in experience. Though one of our youngest stage celebrities, Harrison belongs to a school of acting that developed many of the oldtime magnetic players. As a boy, he received his artistic education with Edwin Booth, John McCullough, Lawrence Barrett and Mrs. John Drew.

Harrison remarked to an interviewer the other day, "During the evolution of my career from an atomic globe of historic protoplasm known in the pre-Adamite period as call-boy, up to my appearance in the nebular hypothesis of the mimic world, I am rather proud of the fact that although I have appeared in an interloper chain of successes, I have never had to have my hats blocked on the dome of the capitol at Washington. I was born on the 24th of December, 1880, and began the study of my profession as call-boy at the Walnut street theatre, Philadelphia. I was there engaged by Mrs. John Drew (mother of our eminent light comedian) and after receiving a year's invaluable tuition from her, I joined John McCullough's California Theatre company and was second comedian for several seasons.

"I then received an offer from Edwin E. Rice and appeared with his burlesque company, playing opposite comedy parts to Henry E. Dixey. After two seasons with Rice I started with my sister Alice in a musical comedy entitled 'Fun in a Photograph Gallery.' I then joined Lester, with John Gourlay and played 'Shipped by the light of the Moon' for several seasons. Gourlay and I dissolved partnership (comedians are the most expert dissolvers in the world) and I starred in a Chinese opera 'The Pearl of Pekin' for three years.

"I then joined Lillian Russell's opera company, and in order to keep my mind occupied between the cats, I wrote 'The Isle of Champagne,' 'Princess Nicotine,' 'Broadway to Tokio,' 'The Man in the Moon,' 'Captain Thurst,' 'Venus,' 'Paradise,' and did considerable newspaper work.

"I have mastered Latin, Greek, Spanish, French and Italian, and am now slowly learning to speak English.

"The Flower Girl" will be presented at the Myers theatre Wednesday, Jan. 9.

Michigan Wants to Play In East's Back Yard—Football Captains.

President Gayelin of the Intercollegiate Athletic association has received a letter from Manager Baird of the University of Michigan track team requesting admission for the Wolverines in the annual games next spring. It is not expected that the application will be granted, however, for Michigan has not competed in an intercollegiate track meet since 1900, and the constitution of the I. A. A. A. requires a college to play its duties regularly and enter a team at least every two years. As Michigan has failed to do this since 1900, there are certain to be objections raised by some of the eastern college delegates, who realize that the presence of the Wolverines at the annual games will cut into the scores of their colleges.

Practically all of the colleges have announced their football captains for the campaign of 1907, and even at this early stage these new leaders are examining the lists of eligible candidates for their respective elevens and warning them to keep in good condition physically and academically during the winter.

It is a noticeable fact that, while more back field men have been chosen to lead the forces than line men, only six quarterbacks, the men who occupy the key positions on a football team, have been chosen to the highest honors. No matter who is captain of a football team, the quarterback gives the signals and in nine cases out of ten runs the team. The captains chosen for 1907 follow:

College.	Captain.	Position.
Pennsylvania.	R. C. Fowlwell.	Halfback.
Yale.	L. H. Biglow.	Fullback.
Princeton.	J. B. McCormick.	Fullback.
West Point.	R. H. Smith.	Halfback.
Cornell.	G. T. Cook.	Tackle.
Lafayette.	W. J. McAvoy.	Fullback.
Swarthmore.	H. Pritchard.	Halfback.
Williams.	W. E. Edgers.	Left end.
Washington.	E. P. Taylor.	Left tackle.
Harvard.	C. Brown.	Fullback.
Dickinson.	C. C. Parvis.	Tackle.
Villanova.	J. Slavin.	Halfback.
Sagehen.	J. D. Curran.	Tackle.
Dartmouth.	J. B. Glaze.	Quarterback.
Lehigh.	C. M. Lawler.	Fullback.
Brown.	J. D. Pryor.	End.
Ohio.	G. Kaler.	Fullback.
Holy Cross.	C. O'Donnell.	End.
Bucknell.	C. A. Nippel.	Quarterback.
Georgetown.	E. C. Dubisher.	Fullback.
Miami.	J. Booth.	Center.
Tulsa.	W. R. Greene.	Quarterback.
Wisconsin.	C. J. Miller.	Fullback.
Chicago.	L. de Tray.	Fullback.
Penn State.	H. M. Burns.	End.

R. C. FOWLWELL, NEW FOOTBALL CAPTAIN AT UNIVERSITY OF PENNSYLVANIA.

Vermont, F. H. Watkins. Halfback. Colorado, N. Farworth. Center. Indiana, F. Wade. Tackle. Bowdoin, W. R. Crowley. Forward. California, W. K. Tuttle. Forward. Washington, H. H. Caston. Quarterback. Northwestern, B. Kowalki. Fullback. Virginia, J. H. Neff. Halfback. Oklahoma, W. J. Cross. Quarterback. Vanderbilt, Robert Blake. Tackle. Wabash, W. Gipe. End. Washington and Jefferson, Price, Quirk.

Under the direction of Coach Bothner the wrestling team at Princeton is showing rapid improvement in its work, and the schedule for the winter has been completed. It stands as follows: Feb. 15, Pennsylvania at Princeton; Feb. 22, 1900 versus 1910; March 2, Pennsylvania at Philadelphia; March 8, Yale at New Haven; March 15, Columbia at New York; March 22, intercollegiate meet at Princeton. An effort is being made to secure a return meet with Columbia at Princeton, but no date has yet been selected.

The announcement comes from Ann Arbor, Mich., that the universities of Michigan and Chicago will meet in two dual indoor track contests during the coming season. One of the meets will be held at Ann Arbor, and the other will be run off in the Bartlett gymnasium, in Chicago. No dates have been set as yet, but Dr. J. E. Baycroft will confer with Manager Baird of Michigan soon and arrange the details.

The renewal of relations is believed to mark an effort on the part of the Wolverine and Maroon athletic officials to pave a way for an annual football game between the two universities. It is felt that the spirit of rivalry shown at these two meets will be in the nature of a test in view of the proposed gridiron battle.

WISCONSIN WEATHER FORECAST
Snow and colder tonight, Tuesday fair and colder.

MEN WANTED

"Never before in times of peace has there been so much of a demand for men as now," says the Wall Street Journal.

"Men are wanted in the steel mills, in the factories, on the railroads, in the army and the navy, in the post-office department and almost everywhere else where work has to be done. Last year there were 2,340 resignations out of two classes of clerks numbering 20,000 in the post-office department. A loss of 12.3 per cent shows how rapidly the skilled and seasoned members of the force are being replaced by raw recruits to the detriment of the service as a rule. At this rate it would take eight years for the new to replace the old force in entirety.

"It is peculiar to prosperous times that labor becomes, so to speak, more mobile. Employments compete for labor, for skill and talent, and the public service has to take its chances with private pursuits. Among private pursuits the competition is keen enough to keep some people moving from one place to another, without becoming fully master of any one thing. Changes have been rather frequent during the past year, and the rise of wages for labor as well as the increases in salaries which are still going on are proof that the end is not yet.

"The men wanted are, in spite of labor scarcity, not so much those who can do routine work, as those who can open new fields for the legitimate employment of capital and labor. We are now, after several years of great changes, at the point where readjustments may be required for the continuance of prosperity.

"It is fortunate for government employees, that something has happened to shake them out of the ruts, and the 2300 men who have sought other employment are to be congratulated. No intelligent young man can afford to settle down for life in government employ for two or three reasons. In the first place, the civil service protection is a curse to him, rather than a blessing, for he feels so secure in his position, that ambition is stunted, and he becomes a time-server unconsciously.

"Then there is absolutely no future for this class of men, and the knowledge they acquire is not worth a hoot, in any other line of business.

"The mail carriers, in the large cities, are started at a $600 salary. When they get to the top they are paid $1000. If laid off by sickness they lose their time and the substitute, who fills the vacancy, is paid at the rate of $600 and the government saves the difference. If the work is not completed in eight hours, they are fined for working overtime, or damned if the distribution is not finished.

"If the position is a clerkship in Washington, work commences at 9 o'clock in the morning and the ambition is to see how little can be accomplished between that time and four in the afternoon. The eight-hour law has long been discounted at the seat of government.

"A girl, who was a good stenographer, working for $60 a month, in an inland city, aspired to more money, and secured a clerkship in Washington, where she thought ability would be appreciated.

"She was assigned the task of addressing envelopes, and went at it with a will, but the pace was too rapid for the rest of the force, and she was advised that unless she could spend more time looking out of the window, that her services would not be required.

"No wonder young people with ambition leave government employ. The country has places today for young men and women in every department of toil, and there was never a time when ability was recognized so speedily, nor more abundantly rewarded.

RESULTS IN ADVERTISING

Newspapers as mediums for advertisers were discussed last night by "Tom" Murray in a lecture before the advertising class at the Y. M. C. A. "I advertised a certain article in my window and I sold fifty of them the first day the ads appeared. I inserted an advertisement in a Chicago newspaper and following that I sold 146 of the articles. I am now spending $2,000 a month on advertising."

"Mr. Murray declared that results depend also on the style of copy. He believes, however, that college men do not make the best "ad" writers, as they pay attention to the English rather than to the effect of the matter. To make advertisements appeal ing Mr. Murray advised the students to be good natured.

"When a writer feels good natured he will talk in his copy with an interest that appeals to the public. He is like the happy salesman who approaches his customer with a smile. It's easy to cultivate the habit of being good natured. I am cultivating this virtue myself. Beginning with this morning, I try to try upon everybody I come across, so that by the time I reach the store I feel like an angel."

"Tom" Murray is good authority. He is the little Chicago merchant who has built up an extensive business as the result of intelligent and persistent publicity. Any merchant can do the same thing if he will keep everlastingly at it. This is an age for doing things, and the man who does them is as certain of reward as time is to pass.

The flimsy excuse is sometimes made, "I have nothing to advertise." The class of men who make it have missed their calling.

The Royal Baking Powder Co. have nothing to advertise but a pure article of food, and yet they keep at it year in and year out, telling people about the purity of it and nothing else. Last year the company spent $2,000,000 in simply advertising so simple a thing as baking powder. The goods are high priced, and the package no more attractive than a dozen other brands, but the "Royal" is a household word, made so by persistent advertising. It's the safest and best-paying investment that any business man can tackle.

The Northwestern Life Insurance Co. paid taxes to the state last year, to the amount of $344,000. That means that the policy-holders of the company were assessed 14 per cent on their insurance, for the privilege of protecting their families. That's insanity under the guise of reform. The same principle would assess a man $14 for every hundred he had in a savings bank.

The gate of Arkansas has driven five insurance companies out of the state, and now the manufacturers are leaving as fast as they can pack up and get out. This is doubtless very gratifying to the late governor, Jefferson Davis, who is largely responsible for conditions, but it is a little rough on the commonwealth. There is a bunch of reformers at large in this country today, who ought to be colonized, and transported.

If you can think of any reforms not already on tap, send them to Madison. The legislature which convenes this week is ready to do your bidding. The lid is not only off, but has been lost in the shuffle. It is a good time to go for every head in sight, from life insurance companies to street-car magnates. Don't let Arkansas get ahead of us on reform.

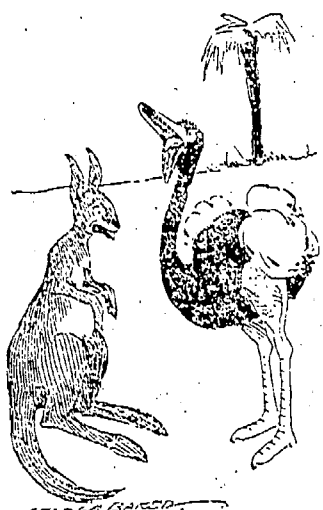

What has become of the Harrimans and Hill millions? The most of them are invested in railroads for the development of the country. Of course it is a little rough on the shippers, but they have the satisfaction of knowing that but for the Harrimans and Hills, and this class of men, they would be grubbing sage brush, instead of raising cattle, out on the plains.

Advance Notice.

In its issue of Jan. 5, 1907, "The Engineering and Mining Journal" will publish the accompanying statistics of the production of the principal metals and mineral substances in 1906, the figures for 1905 being given in comparison. The year which has just closed was one of great prosperity in the mining industry, and in most branches of mineral and metal production there were substantial increases. The increases would have been larger if there had been a sufficient supply of labor, the shortage of which was a general complaint in all quarters. This was the leading reason for the smallness in the increase in the production of copper. The decrease in the production of petroleum is explained by the exhaustion of certain fields in Texas. The further decrease in the production of quicksilver is simply in line with the waning tendency of that industry that has been manifested for several years.

The production of gold in the world is estimated at $404,649,655 against $397,867,373 in 1905. The production of copper in North America (including the United States, Canada and Mexico) was 1,097,300,000 pounds in 1906 against 1,063,582,700 pounds in 1905.

Most of these statistics are based on direct reports from the producers. The January 5 issue of the Journal contains full reviews of all the important branches of the mining industry of the United States, and of many foreign countries, together with comprehensive summaries of technical progress in 1906.

Social Amusements At The Zoo.

The ostrich yawned.
Kangaroo (highly offended)—Does my conversation tire you?
Ostrich—Not at all. On the contrary I am greatly interested. That yawn started five minutes ago, while I was talking with that tiresome baboon, and didn't get all the way up till just now.

TIED TO STAKE,
FED ON RAW MEAT

Little White Girl, Browned and Clad in Skins, Exhibited as a Filipino.

Tied to a stake, dressed only in skins, and fed on scraps of meat thrown to her by showmen who were exhibiting her as a Filipino, a white girl was found by Congressman James Watson at the fair at Hagerstown, Md. The girl has an intelligent expression and is very pretty, though her face is browned by chemicals. She is about thirteen years old.

Mr. Watson, who has visited the Philippine Islands, saw the side show

SCRAPS OF MEAT WERE THROWN TO HER, advertisement, which proclaimed in glaring type the exhibition of a "wild Filipino girl, caught in the jungles of Luzon."

He entered and at once recognized that the girl was not a Filipino. He accused the showman of deceit. After being pressed and threatened the exhibitor admitted the deception, saying that the girl's parents were dead, and that she had come into his possession, and that he had a right to do as he chose with her.

Mr. Watson went to the county prosecutor and demanded that he protect the girl from such usage. She probably will be taken charge of in the name of the state.

The showman treated her like a brute. She was bound so tightly to the stake that every move apparently caused her pain, and the scraps of meat which were thrown to her she would catch and devour ravenously. Her only clothes were rough skins, tied loosely about her.

LOST HIS PANTS
ON THE HIGHWAY

Steam Roller Ran Over Them and Pressed Them to the King's Taste.

"I have lost my trousers with $32 in them and I want you to find them," was the message Marshal Thomas Maguire of South Orange, N. J., received over the telephone at police headquarters.

"Where are you?" asked Maguire. "I'm in the village hall," came the response.

"Well, where do you think you lost your trousers, and who are you?" queried the marshal. "I am George Keough of Buffalo, and I was running a steam roller up Scotland road. When in front of the village hall I missed my trousers," came the answer.

Maguire detailed a man on the case and in a while the trousers were found in a wagon which was being driven along Scotland road. The driver said he had found the trousers on the street and had taken possession of the money which was in the pocket.

The point on which the police were baffled was how on earth Keough lost his trousers on the public highway. It then developed to their relief that Keough was garbed in overalls, the warm weather having forced him to remove his trousers. They had dropped out of the steam roller, which had run over them and nicely pressed them.

Senator's Daughter a Heroine.

Mary La Follette, the six-year-old daughter of Senator La Follette, seated alone in a buggy behind a runaway horse galloping down a crowded street at Madison, Wis., bravely clutched the reins tight and tried to check the horse. Her brother, Robert junior, had left her to go into a store, and while he was absent the horse became frightened. After the horse had run several blocks Walter Wilson seized the bridle and stopped it. Mary was helped out and congratulated. She didn't shed a tear.

Thunder Shakes Building Down.

The concussion from a heavy roll of thunder is thought to have been the immediate cause of the collapse of an old building at Haverhill, Mass., by which one person was seriously and two others slightly injured.

Seven Big Whales Stranded on Beach.

Fishermen recently found seven large whales stranded on the beach of Anastasia island, Florida. They varied in length from twelve to twenty feet.

Soldiers to Be Taught Trade.

British soldiers who have no trade are to be taught one during their term of service. A committee is now studying out a plan at Aldershot.

BRITISH MILITARY TRAINING.

Soldiers Play at War on a Vast Tract of Land.

England has reserved a tract of land several hundred square miles in extent on which her soldiers play at war, according to F. A. Talbot in the Technical World Magazine. The Russian-Japanese war served to emphasize the radical revolution which has taken place in warfare due to the remarkable improvements which have been wrought in the devising of long-range and quick-firing weapons, combined with improvements in explosives.

The result of this revolution in warfare is that a battle front may range over as much as 60 or 70 miles. Consequently a grave difficulty presents itself in the training of an army to comply with and to understand these new conditions, since it is essential that an army in peace should be brought to a high standard of efficiency which will enable it to cope with any peculiar difficulty that may present itself in actual combat. But to train an army upon this basis necessitates a vast tract of land having a conformation of the most difficult nature and far removed from the influences of human habitations, to enable the men to have the fullest scope in which to practice the new conditions of their science.

KEEN INTELLIGENCE WANTED.

A Story That Illustrates What Banks Are Looking For.

Pierce Jay, the commissioner of banks of Massachusetts, at the American Bankers' association's convention in St. Louis, advocated a better accounting system.

"But above all," said Mr. Jay, in a discussion of his idea, "we want intelligence, if embezzlement is to be thoroughly put down. Systems are good, but intelligence is better, and in cashiers and tellers and bookkeepers and note clerks we want the same keen, quick intelligence that characterized old Capt. Hiram Cack of Gloucester."

"Cack lay very ill. One day he got down-hearted, feeling that his case was hopeless.

"I fear, doctor," he said, "there isn't much hope for me."

"Oh, yes, there is," the doctor answered. "Three years ago I was in your condition precisely, and look at me now."

"Cack, intelligent and alert, said quickly: "What doctor did you have?"

Sorrow of a Humorist.

"This thing of being a humorist is about the saddest thing I know," sighed Simeon Ford. "An ordinary person can have his moods and humors as he pleases, but I must always be on the job. I am constantly being invited out, not because I'm liked for myself alone or because of my manly beauty, but because I am expected to entertain the assemblage. The rest of the company may be as dull as dishwater, but if I do not shake up the gathering with a few jokes the hostess glares at me and really feels resentful. I may be sunk in the slough of despond, but just as soon as I take my seat all lean forward and eye me expectantly.

"My son, never get a reputation for being funny. It is the most mournful thing on earth."

A New Hobby.

The ingenuity of collectors in the discovery of new fields having been exhausted, there is still open to them that of collecting the finest specimen of forged or spurious works of art, and this is capable of becoming a hobby scarcely less interesting or admirable than the pursuit of the genuine article.—Art Journal.

Bear in a Gunless Town.

While every man in the village who owned a gun was out hunting yesterday, a large black bear came down the mountain from the rear of Elk Grove and calmly sauntered down the one street of the town. Several men with teams, but without guns, were compelled to turn aside to let the bear pass.—Bloomburg correspondence Philadelphia Record.

Working Italy's Quarries.

Spotlessly pure marbles of the island of Paros, Greece, are mined by an English company. Many of the celebrated statues left by the ancient world were sculptured from the marbles of the Parian mines. The green marbles of Tinos and the red of Mali are likewise controlled by foreign capital.

Wires Need a Rest.

"Messages," said a telegraph operator, "always slide over the wires better on Monday than on any other day. The wires, you see, have profited by their Sunday rest."

"It is a fact that inanimate as well as animate things get tired and need a vacation occasionally. You know how true this is of razors, of automobiles, of locomotives—and it is just as true of telegraph wires.

"A wire after its Sunday rest gives a quicker, a fuller and a more delicate transmission. It is like a piano that has just been tuned."

Proper Coat of Arms.

John Thomas Brady got in tonight from St. Louis. John Thomas stopped a little while in Pittsburg on his way here.

"I heard some of them guys out there talking about getting a coat-of-arms," he said. "Now, take it from me that the only right thing for most of this bunch in the way of a coat-of-arms would be a set of burglar's tools properly displayed."—Washington Correspondence.

GOLDEN OPPORTUNITY.

The Land of Proverbial Milk and Honey.

We are now in a position to offer you irrigated or non-irrigated land in sunny Alberta Canada, direct from the Canadian Pacific R. R. Co.

We say, and prove it by government records that Alberta is by long odds from the standpoint of climate the cream of grain growing provinces. Mean temperature at Calgary. Summer, 58.5; Winter, 13.9; Year 37.4. Above zero.

It is not to the speculator who wants to buy a large tract of land and quickly waits for the settler to improve all the adjacent land and thus double the value of his land, but to the man who is a tiller of the soil and can sell the land that cost him $10 to $20 per acre for $75 to $100 per acre, also to all renters who are paying rent enough every year to make good payment on a farm of their own and in a country where cattle and horses graze the whole year. A word to the man in the city who feels the land hunger and longs to get away from the treadmill of the city or servitude of the factory; to the young man with a brave heart and brawny muscle, starting out in life to make home and fortune; to every man who wants an opportunity for ease, profitable farming, and at the same time to profit by the inevitable rapid rise in land values; to the man who seeks a home in a delightful climate and a sure fortune that will reward his honest, industrious efforts; to the man who wants to better himself and family; to the man of modest means who longs for a comfortable fortune; to the man who knows by experience or belief that irrigation is the sure way of farming; to the man who is capable of seeing the opportunity of a lifetime and has the courage to grasp that opportunity we appeal. We have something for such men. For further information call on or address

ACTIONS IN COURT OF JUDGE REEDER

Beloit College Students This Morning Settled a Lawsuit Brought by Their Former Cook.

In Judge Reeder's court this morning judgment for the plaintiff in the sum of $11.10, with the C. & N. W. Ry. Co. garnished, was rendered in the case of Peter H. Dulin vs. Frank Wright. Two cases from Judge Earle's court were taken up. One of them was that of Kate Guttenberg vs. the Chi chapter of Beta Theta Pi. The plaintiff was formerly cook at the Beloit College fraternity house and when her services were dispensed with, sued for a large sum, claiming that she had a contract for the whole year. A settlement on the basis of $10.50 and costs was reached after the pleadings had been entered and both parties stipulated that a judgment in this amount should be rendered. About a dozen of the college students and their attorneys, Rosa & Adams, as well as the plaintiff and her counsel, Edward Ryan, appeared before the bar of justice. This afternoon the action of Dr. R. R. Powell vs. William Boulton, with goods belonging to the defendant and stored in Frank Kimball's warehouse, attached, was adjourned for 20 days. The defendant is not in the city and the preliminary proceedings will have to be conducted by publication.

LOCAL PARAGRAPHS.

Board Meets Next Week: District Attorney J. L. Fisher went to Evansville this morning to investigate a tax matter for the county board. The board meets here a week from tomorrow.

Asked to be Prompt: Members of the Twilight Club are asked to be on hand promptly at 6:15 tomorrow evening. Numerous late arrivals at the last session caused considerable confusion in serving the supper.

D. A. B. Meeting: The Janesville Chapter of the D. A. B. will meet at the home of Mrs. Charles L. Fifield tomorrow afternoon.

Burned the Ballots: Sealed bags of ballots cast at the primaries and election were officially consigned to the flames at the court house this morning. County Clerk Lee and George G. Sutherland acting as executors.

Absent From School: The Janesville public schools reopened this morning after a two weeks' holiday vacation. The rainstorm reduced the attendance in the high school and various grades, many students being absent from the morning session.

E. F. W. Leaves New Hall: The next regular meeting of the Equitable Fraternal Union, Assembly No. 471, will take place this evening at the West Side Odd Fellows' Hall, corner Franklin and West Milwaukee Sts., which has been leased by the trustees for the ensuing year. This change was made at the last meeting in December. Mr. Orrin Thompson, supreme deputy, will be present to install new officers and the members also have a supper and card party.

MORTUARY NEWS.

Mrs. Martha Dunwiddie
The mortal remains of the late Mrs. Martha Dunwiddie were taken to Juda this morning and tenderly laid to rest in the cemetery there. Funeral services were held here at 9:15 o'clock, Rev. R. M. Some three months ago the St. Paul's Lutheran church was badly in debt. At the meeting Sunday the clerk announced the debts were all paid but a few hundred dollars.

PROMINENT MASON AND RESIDENT OF CITY SINCE 1864

Albert Shephard Lee Died at Six This Morning After Few Days' Illness With Pleura Pneumonia.

Albert Shephard Lee, a pioneer resident of the county and city and one of the oldest and most prominent Masons in Janesville, passed away this morning at 5:45 o'clock at his home, 55 Linn street. He had been in his usual health up till last Wednesday when he contracted a cold. In the evening while attending a lodge meeting at the Masonic Temple he suffered a chill and the next day he was confined to his home. Pleura pneumonia developed and death ensued.

Came to County in 1855.
The deceased was born in Frankfort, Herkimer county, N. Y., August 22, 1829, being the son of Steven Lee. He was married in New York state on November 8, 1854, his bride being Miss Julia E. Baldwin. Mr. and Mrs. Lee came west in February of 1855 and settled in the town of Magnolia, Rock county. They resided there until April of 1864, when they removed to Janesville and in 1869 took up their residence in the present home on Linn street. No children were born to Mr. and Mrs. Lee and he is survived only by a wife, two sisters and one brother. The sisters are Mrs. Gustaf of Rockford, Ill., who is now in the city and Mrs. M. R. Holdridge of Janesville. The brother is Alfred M. Lee of Tindall, S. D.

A Mason Since 1863.
Mr. Lee's masonic biography dates from 1863, when he became a member of the order at Footville. In 1865 he joined Janesville Chapter, No. 5, R. A. M., and in 1867 was made a Knight Templar, joining Janesville Commandery, No. 2. He was Emergent Commander of this body during the years 1884, 1885 and 1886. For many years past he had been Tyler of all local lodges of the Masons.

Blue Lodge Funeral.
Funeral services over the remains will be held at two o'clock Wednesday afternoon at the Congregational church and the body will be escorted to Oak Hill cemetery by a deputation from the Commandery. At the grave the rites of the blue lodge will be performed.

Excelsior work on M'LAY CATALOGUE

Department of Printing of the Gazette Turns Out Some Very Fine Work.

A very handsome catalogue of 72 pages and cover, size 6x9 inches, has just come from the Gazette's printing department for M'LAY Bros.

The book is beautifully illustrated with fine halftones of Clydesdale horses, etc., done in double-line ink on heavy cream-colored paper with a handsome cover in two colors. Aside from the pictures of the horses there are cuts of the home and headquarters of the famous M'LAY stud "Arribibion." The high standing of the M'LAys in the horse world will be fittingly represented with this new book. A run of 1500 price lists of eight pages has just been completed, also, by the Gazette for Geo. J. Kellogg & Sons, the nurserymen, in preparation for their spring campaign.

SENATOR LODGE'S VERY GOOD DEFENSE

the President in dismissing these companies without honor exceeded his powers under the law and the constitution. This question can be settled by the senate just as well now as I think better than at any other time without the least regard for the committee's decision as to the question of fact. It is purely a question of law and I think it ought to be detached from the question of fact and settled at once because I think that confining one question with another has already done harm, tends toward injustice and will create great delay and prevent prompt action. The constitution makes the President commander in chief of the army and navy of the United States and congress is given authority to make rules for the government and regulation of the land and naval forces. In the fifth amendment of the constitution the land and naval forces are excepted from the rights guaranteed to all persons who are held to answer for a capital or otherwise infamous crime. It appears, therefore, that soldiers and sailors were recognized as being subject to a law different from that administered in the civil courts. In making the President commander in chief the constitution conferred upon him all the power and authority ordinarily exercised by the commander in chief under the military law of the times. That military law had been slowly forming through many centuries. Broadly speaking, the power of the commander in chief was originally absolute and wars were conducted under ordinances or rules laid down by the king himself. The king or commander in chief could punish or dismiss from the service without any restriction except such as he himself chose to establish. Modern rules and articles of war may be said to date from those established by Gustavus Adolphus and among English speaking people from Prince Rupert's code as it was called, which was practically used by both sides in England's civil wars. After the revolution which placed William of Orange on the throne, there was passed the famous military act, which not only recognized the army and the military law under which it was governed but provided for the trial of mutineers and deserters by courts martial. This act which had to be renewed every year has kept the control of the military forces of England in the hands of parliament. The principles of the military act and the articles of war adopted by England were in the main those adopted by us at the time of the revolution and which may be found embodied in the articles of war which are now a statute of the U. S. The commander in chief has, as such, the right inherent in his office to punish or discharge except so far as it is limited or regulated by the laws of the United States. On this point of punishment or discharge the articles of war are perfectly explicit. Article 4 provides that no enlisted man, duly sworn, shall be discharged from the service without a discharge in writing, signed by a field officer of the regiment to which he belongs or by the commanding officer when no field officer is present, and no discharge shall be given to any enlisted man before his term of service has expired, except by order of the President, the secretary of war, the commanding officer of a department, or by sentence of a general court-martial.

It will be observed that the power of the President, the secretary of war and the commanding officer of the department to discharge an enlisted man is expressly recognized. "The dishonorable discharge can only be given by sentence of a court-martial, the honorable discharge can, of course, be given by the commanding officer, but there is another discharge now described as the 'dishonorable without honor' which is not limited to the action of a court-martial and which comes within the discretion of the President, the secretary of war and the commanding officer. The regulation as to the discharge without honor shows as explicitly as language can the large power of the commander in chief to order such discharges. In fact, the power of summary discharge by the commander in chief has always existed and been exercised. Our military law, as I have said, is taken from the military law of England and our practice has remained practically the same as English practice. The English authority, Clode, in his work, says on this point: 'Though an engagement is made for a term certain, the crown is under no obligations to retain the soldier, either in pay or in arms, for that period, but may discharge him at any time. The safety of the realm may depend in some measure on the immediate discharge or dismissal of any man or regiment in arms and, equally, that the cause of such dismissal should not at the time be disclosed by the responsible ministers of the crown.'"

"There can be no doubt whatever that the power of summary dismissal was inherent in the office of commander in chief when the President was invested by the constitution with that office and there has never been any attempt on the part of congress to prevent or interfere with the exercise of this authority. Balistment is a contract and has been so held by the supreme court of the United States and it is a contract terminable at will by the government. This is all that is done when a soldier is discharged without honor. The commander in chief or his representatives terminates the contract of enlistment. The precedents are gathered together in the report of the judge advocate general and it appears that no less than 352 enlisted men were discharged without honor from the army of the United States during the past year. It makes no difference whatever in principle whether one man or ten, or one hundred, or an entire regiment are dismissed in this way. The principle is the same in all. The power of summary dismissal must rest where it has always rested, with the highest authority in the country. It is impossible to conceive of maintaining an army on any other principle. If a soldier cannot be separated from the service except by being convicted of crime or evidence which would satisfy a jury in a civil case, there is no possibility of maintaining military discipline.

"The power to dismiss or terminate the contract of enlistment is absolutely essential to the maintenance of an army. In fact, the principle runs through all business and society. Civil society could not go on if the power of dismissal or removal without the necessity of evidence to convict before a jury was not universal. It has been recognized fully in the civil service. The theory that the President's power of removal could be limited was debated from the foundation of the government until under Andrew Johnson the tenure of office was passed. It was impossible to conduct the government under such limitations and the act was modified under Grant and repealed under Cleveland. I believe it to have been unconstitutional, but that it was impracticable has been demonstrated and the President's power remained as it must remain, absolute. What is true of civil life is true with tenfold force of the army. If the commander in chief is unable to dismiss from the army the soldiers whom he regards as dangerous to the service and to military discipline without furnishing proof which would convict to a jury military discipline would be at an end and the army of the United States would become a menace to the people of the country. The law, the constitution, the statutes and the uniform practice are so clear as to the right of the President to terminate the contract of enlistment and discharge soldiers at pleasure that it seems a waste of words to any one who has read the statutes to argue it at all."

FIERCE SEA HITS LINER

ONE SEAMAN KILLED AND SIX INJURED ON THE ETRURIA.

Child Is Born In Stowage During the Rough Weather Capt. Potter Ever Experienced.

New York, Jan. 7.—One of her crew was killed and six others seriously injured when the Canard liner Etruria was fighting her way through a severe storm on Friday night. The body of the man killed was buried at sea. The others injured were in her hospital when the steamer arrived Sunday from Queenstown.

Friday night while the Etruria was plowing through heavy head seas and great waves were breaking over her deck the lashing on the starboard anchor davits were torn loose. New lashings were put on, but some hours later they broke loose again. The watch of nine men once more started forward to secure them, but just as they completed their task a huge wave swept over the bow, knocking them right and left. James Walker, able seaman, was swept the full length of the forecastle deck, and down the stairway leading to the main deck. He struck squarely on the rail at the foot of the stairs and his spine was broken.

Others of the crew rushed to the forecastle deck, which they found strewn with unconscious men. William Nowell, the most dangerously injured, was taken to St. Vincent's hospital when the ship reached port and it was said that he probably would die.

When the storm was at its height a girl was born in the stowage. The mother is Mrs. Jacob Goldstein and after a collection amounting to $50 had been taken up among the cabin passengers the baby was christened Rachel Etruria Goldstein.

Capt. Potter said Sunday that never during his many years as a seaman had he experienced such rough weather.

DIES IN BLAZING SLEEPER.

Louis de Lario, Clerk of a House Committee, Perishes on Train.

Council Bluffs, Ia., Jan. 7.—Louis de Lario, Washington, clerk of the house committee on irrigation, was killed and two men and a woman were injured in the second fatal accident to befall the Los Angeles limited train No. 8, on the Northwestern within a week, when a Pullman sleeper caught fire Sunday morning while the train was running from Council Bluffs to Missouri valley, en route to Chicago.

The car filled with dense smoke, which suffocated the passengers. Mr. De Lario, aged 22, whose home formerly was in Laramie, Wyo., was dead when found.

Albuquerque, N. M., Jan. 7.—At 6:45 Saturday night passenger train No. 8, eastbound on the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe, jumped the track on a curve at Blue Water, 107 miles west of this city. The engine and the entire 11 cars of the train, one of the heaviest on the road, plunged over a 20-foot embankment and the cars were piled up in confusion. The only persons seriously injured were a mail clerk, baggage man and express messenger, who are not fatally injured. The passengers in the coaches and Pullmans were all painfully bruised.

GEARIN MAKES HIS LAST SPEECH ON THE JAPANESE

perience," he said, "we have learned that the unrestricted immigration of Asiatic laborers to this country is a curse, an incentive to disorder and a menace to the welfare and happiness and prosperity of the laboring man of America."

Speaking feelingly of the competition of the Chinamen, he told of the recognized necessity of bringing it to an end, and said:

"Some of the means adopted to bring about that end were perhaps questionable—might perhaps not measure up to the high standard set by the sentimental altruistic amateur political economists who prattle about the brotherhood of man—might not perhaps meet the approval of the present administration. But to those who understood the situation, the revolt of labor against this ruinous and degrading competition was justifiable—not only justifiable but commendable, and the Chinese exclusion act has always been regarded by our people as the best piece of legislation that was ever enacted for the Pacific coast and for the nation indirectly."

Mr. Gearin pictured the probable results of permitting from one to five million Japanese laborers, come into the United States, and declared that in the interest of our people, institutions and government, it should be stopped now and forever. He said that such action would not be an affront to a friendly nation, as it would be an act of the wisest statesmanship in the interests of "our own."

Again he said: "We have a right to protect ourselves and we must protect ourselves or go to the wall in the world's competition."

He argued that the yellow and white races never have mixed and never can, and commenting on this fact said: "There is something about these race antagonisms, that perhaps we do not understand—perhaps it is to the necessary that we should not understand. The fact that they exist and have never been overcome is sufficient. And I say this without the slightest intention of reflecting upon the Japanese people. I don't say that they are inferior to us—they are different, that is all; and the difference is so striking, such a radical difference, that the two peoples can never become one people or become amalgamated at all."

"The Asiatic and the American do not intermarry" will never intermarry except in rare instances. We can never absorb them or take them into our social life."

Citing the negro question to show that the white race never will mix with one of the colored races, Mr. Gearin said: "It was folly—the insane, criminal folly of those who thought cheap labor, however obtained, a blessing—that brought these colored people here as slaves, and where is the man now bold enough to say that it has been a blessing?"

Speaking of the "crisis" in the South over the negro question, he appealed to the representatives of the southern states to deal with the situation there as best they can in the interests of humanity, good government, and right business. He promised "hands off," leaving the situation to southern honor, loyalty and patriotism and concluded his appeal by saying:

"But we say to you at the same time in God's name, do not aid by your vote or assist by your endeavors the plans of those whose efforts if successfully carried out will bring down upon us a condition which will be worse—far worse in the end than the troubles which now beset you."

Declaring that the only principle which should govern this country in the protection of the laboring man is to pay him as much as we can and make him happy and at the same time insure to his employer a reasonable profit and no more upon the capital invested, Mr. Gearin declared that if capital refuses to hear this "from the lips of its friends it will hear it later from the lips of those who are not its friends."

Mr. Gearin declared that China would be in a position to demand admission of her cheap labor, if the privilege continues to be accorded to Japan.

Concerning the President's message on that subject, Mr. Gearin said: "And in this connection I would commend the essay on industrial morality, found on the 44th page of the message, to its distinguished author for reproof and careful examination."

"There is not one single objection that was ever urged against the Chinese laborer that does not apply with equal force against the Japanese laborer. Why then the discrimination?"

As a conclusion of a beautiful peroration, Mr. Gearin said: "We are a homogeneous people, connected by blood and the ties of kinship. And although we of the west are far away from the nation's capital as the longitude marks, yet we are a part of the nation's family and sheltered by the nation's protection. There are voices calling to us out there—voices of cheer and good will. And we stop at times and listen and they speak to us of a brotherhood of American labor and American capital—a brotherhood of American genius and American enterprise—a brotherhood of American loyalty and American patriotism—and it strengthens our hearts and cheers us on because we feel that we are brothers all and that you will listen to us and sympathize with us and aid us—because of the brotherhood."

Real Entailment. "Speaking of the artist, the artistic to ordinary duties reminds me of my unmarried aunt with whom I lived when I was a child. She used sometimes to do such a fine job of making the beds that she would make us sleep on the floor, because she hadn't the heart to see her work spoiled."—Exchange.

The Main Question. "Here is a story about a newspaper photographer who fell into the harbor at Lyon while taking a picture and was nearly drowned. 'Did he get the picture?'"

IMMIGRANTS CAME IN GREAT FLOOD

LAST YEAR BEAT ALL RECORDS IN THIS RESPECT.

TOTAL NUMBER 1,100,735

Most of Them From Southern Europe—Schemes to Import Japanese Railway Laborers Are Revealed.

Washington, Jan. 7.—The fiscal year ending June 30, 1906, produced a record eclipsing all former figures on the subject of immigration, according to the annual report of Frank Sargent, the commissioner general of immigration. During that period, the report says, the population of the United States was increased by the admission of 1,100,735 immigrant aliens, and 65,618 nonimmigrant aliens entered at its ports, making the total admissions 1,166,353.

The increase over last year's record of 1,059,755 (1,026,499 aliens plus 33,256 transits) was 106,598. During the fiscal year 1905, 11,450 aliens were rejected and during the past year 12,432. Of the immigrant aliens, that is, those who intended settling in the United States, there were 704,463 males and 336,272 females.

Tendency of immigration during the past few years to gather its steady increase principally from the countries of southern Europe is referred to. "Without exception," the report says, "the countries from which we formerly obtained the greater part of our foreign population, and which are inhabited by races nearly akin to our own, have supplied us with smaller numbers during the past year than during 1905—Ireland 17,950, England 15,218, Sweden 3,281, Germany 3,010, Denmark 1,229 and Scotland 1,111 less.

On the other hand, the four most considerable gains are: Italy, 51,641; Russia, 20,768; Greece, 8,974; and Turkey (in Europe and Asia), 5,165."

Many From Southern Europe. The immigration from Austria-Hungary amounted to 254,138; Italy, including Sicily and Sardinia, 273,120; Russian empire and Finland, 218,665; China, 1,444; Japan, 13,835, and the West Indies, 12,656. The immigration from southern and eastern Europe, the commissioner says, is a result of general unrest existing among the laboring classes of those sections which is encouraged or even fomented by the agents scouring the country for passengers and the commissioner says more drastic measures are required to effect a discontinuance of these steamship practices.

That the physical and mental quality of the aliens we are now receiving is much below that of those who have come in former years, he says, is evident. Importation of Japanese. The report refers to what the commissioner believes to have been extensive schemes to secure foreign labor brought to light in the past year and now being investigated. The evidence is already at hand, the report says, to show that some individual or corporation is engaged in importing numbers of Japanese laborers to work on the railroads of the northwest. These Japanese come to Hawaii designed to "hotels" kept by labor agents and claim that they are merely seeking labor that may be secured in the islands. They are admitted to the islands and after remaining a few days or weeks there, they ship for northwestern mainland ports. Having been admitted at the Hawaiian ports, their voyage thence is "coastwise" and they cannot be examined on arrival at the mainland ports, under the alien labor contract or any other provision of the immigration laws.

Japanese immigration direct to San Francisco from Japan dropped during the year to a very small figure, doubtless the reports say, from causes similar to those just referred to. The immigration commissioner at San Francisco reports that Japanese have been arriving there coastwise from Honolulu and from Canadian ports at the rate of 1,000 to 3,000 per month. The report says "that several thousand laborers have been imported under this evasion of the law is not doubted."

THE NEWS CONDENSED.

BOMB-THROWER WAS STEELE.

Doubts of His Identity Removed by Philadelphia Police.

Philadelphia, Jan. 7.—With the finding Sunday of the personal effects of the man who threw the bomb in the Fourth Street National bank on Saturday, killing Cashier W. Z. McLean and himself, there is little doubt left in the minds of the police officials that he was Rollo Steele, of Garner, Iowa.

The bomb thrower was found to have slept Friday night at the Grant House, a hostelry on the outskirts of the "tenderloin" frequented mostly by respectable working people. The man registered as J. R. Steele of New York. He arrived at the hotel about seven o'clock and engaged a 50-cent room. He carried a grip which he refused to allow the colored porter to carry to the room.

When detectives searched the room Sunday they found several yards of slow fuse, a number of detonating caps, a revolver and box of cartridges in the grip, together with a number of tools and some clothing. There was a suit bearing the tag of a Chicago clothing house and a pair of overalls marked with the name of a Lynchburg, Va., merchant. There was also a waybill for a box shipped over the Southern railway. As Rollo Steele was reported to have been in Chicago and Lynchburg, the latter place within a few days, the police say there is little doubt as to the bomb thrower's identity.

Lynchburg, Va., Jan. 7.—J. R. Steele, who it is alleged, wrecked the Fourth Street National bank of Philadelphia by throwing a bomb and who lost his life at the time, worked here as a concrete construction foreman for several months and Mrs. Steele and a 10-year-old son were seen at their home Sunday night. Steele left here Thursday morning, early, telling his wife that he was going to Danville, Va., to secure work on a railway construction contract. When told of the statements attributed to Mrs. Irene Steele in Chicago, Mrs. Steele said Steele was divorced from her before his second marriage.

HILL AND HARRIMAN AGREE.

Report That Their Differences in Northwest Are Settled.

Portland, Ore., Jan. 7.—The Oregonian says:

"Negotiations are on between Hill and Harriman, and their differences in the northwest have practically been settled. W. W. Cotton, general counsel of the Oregon Railroad and Navigation company, Saturday night admitted that representatives of the companies have been negotiating, but he had not heard whether any final conclusion had been reached. However, from the reports at Seattle, which indicate that the local end of the agreement at that place has been concluded, there seems to be little doubt that the Harriman and Hill interests will end their animosity on the northwest."

"If any agreement has been reached it means that Hill is to have unobstructed entrance into Portland and an opportunity to acquire adequate terminal facilities; that Harriman will receive similar treatment in Seattle from the hands of Hill, and probably that the railroad war along the north bank of the Columbia river will cease."

RHEUMATISM AN ACID BLOOD POISON

Rheumatism is an acid blood poison, and the causes that produce it are often silently accumulating in the system for years. Poor digestion, stomach troubles, weak kidneys, torpid liver, and a general inactive condition of the system leaves the refuse and waste matter, which should be carried off, to sour and form uric acid, which is absorbed into the blood. When the blood is in this acid-charged condition, it deposits the poisons and irritating particles with which it is loaded in the muscles, nerves, joints and bones. Then Rheumatism gets possession of the system, and life is made miserable by its pains, aches and discomforts. The changing of the weather, exposure to cold and dampness, etc., always increase the trouble, and so severe does the pain become that quick relief must be had. A good liniment or plaster is often helpful, but it should be remembered that relief from such treatment is only temporary, because the trouble is in the blood and cannot be removed by external applications. S. S. S. cures Rheumatism by ridding the blood of the cause. It goes down into the circulation and by invigorating and purifying the blood of the acid-poison and sending a stream of fresh, rich blood to all parts, relieves the pain, reduces the inflammation, and permanently cures this painful disease. S. S. S. is the only safe treatment for Rheumatism, because it does not contain a particle of mineral in any form to damage the system. Book on Rheumatism and any medical advice desired sent free. ZINAT CAPTURED, RAISULI FLEES

SULTAN'S TROOPS TAKE THE REBEL'S STRONGHOLD.

NONE KILLED IN FIGHT

Bandit Chief and His 700 Followers Escape to the Mountains—Next Move Against Mulai Mohammed.

Tangier, Jan. 7.—Zinat, Raisuli's stronghold, was virtually destroyed by fire and fell into the hands of the troops of the sultan at noon Sunday, after a short and almost bloodless fight.

Raisuli and his 700 followers succeeded in eluding capture and reaching the mountains, despite the elaborate plans of War Minister Gabbas to prevent their escape.

No firing took place Saturday night, but at ten o'clock Sunday morning the artillery, under command of an Algerian native lieutenant whom the French authorities permitted to participate in the battle on request of War Minister Gabbas, opened on the town.

Stronghold Found Empty. The Moorish gunners showed utter incapacity in handling their guns and the infantry fired rhabazard. Two shells dropped inside the fastness without reply, and thereupon a body of the sultan's troops charged, shouting and reached the walls amid desultory shots from the surrounding brush.

The gates to the town were found to be open, but there were no occupants of the place except 15 prisoners, included among whom were four Portuguese.

A detachment of the government troops continued firing in the direction of the mountains, where Raisuli and his followers were observed fleeing.

Meanwhile the other government troops pillaged the stronghold, securing considerable booty in the shape of costly carpets, arms, cattle and sheep.

No Fatalities Reported.

No fatalities in the fighting Sunday were reported, though a few persons on both sides were wounded. It is thought probable that the Raisulis carried off their dead.

Minister of War Gabbas, who has not left Tangier during the operations, is expected will next move against the pretender to the throne, Mulai Mohammed, a brother of the sultan, from whose followers there have been many defections recently.

The Spanish officers of the international police created by the Algebras convention have arrived here and will take up their duties at the end of the month.

THIRD IN FOREIGN TRADE.

United States Climbs In Value of Exported Manufactures.

Washington, Jan. 7.—A statement issued Sunday by the bureau of statistics of the department of commerce and labor announces that this country now ranks third in the value of manufactures entering the world's international commerce, the amount of its exports for the past year having aggregated more than $700,000,000. The exports have never even approximated those figures before and the value of American trade in the foreign markets, the reports adds, is twice as great now as eight years ago.

Harriman Doing Very Well.

New York, Jan. 7.—At the residence of E. H. Harriman Sunday night it was said that Mr. Harriman, who underwent an operation about a week ago, was, in the opinion of his physicians, doing very well. Mr. Harriman, it was added, was down to dinner Sunday. The physicians said that Mr. Harriman needed absolute rest for perhaps a week or ten days more.

THREE DIE IN HOTEL FIRE. American House at Delhi, N. Y., Destroyed by Flames.

Delhi, N. Y., Jan. 7.—Three lives were lost in a fire that destroyed the American hotel here early Sunday. The dead are: William Winter, 50 years old, druggist; Mrs. Anne Winter, his wife; John O'Connor, tailor. All were suffocated. They were permanent guests at the hotel.

Tragedy in Portland, Ore.

Portland, Ore., Jan. 7.—Frederick R. Family troubles are alleged to have been the cause of the deed.

To Remove Iron Rust.

A simple remedy for iron rust stain is to be found in common cream of tartar. "If this is sprinkled on the stain and the damaged goods then allowed to remain in the sun for a little time the spot will be found to have disappeared. If the first application should prove unsuccessful a second will be almost sure to remove the stain.—Suburban Life.

The Real Aristocracy.

A good name, not money, is the "pass key" which opens the aristocratic portals and admits you into the company of those men and women who are elevating, ennobling, enriching the world by their self-denying lives, their golden deeds, their charities, their good works for the poor and the wretched.

Derivation of Words.

"Autoneer" will be "correct" when "lawneer" takes the place of "lawyer" and "teacher" of "teacher." The proper ending for such words is "er," often changed for euphony to "or" or "ior." Much confusion is due to misunderstanding the derivation of "engineer." An engineer is an "engineer," not an "engineer."

JOSEPH C. LINCOLN.

Copyright, 1905, by A. S. Barnes & Co.

When the first mate appeared he did not speak to any one, but jumped to the wharf and hurried away. A doctor was sent for and Captain Titcomb's wound was dressed. The physician said the injury was not serious. There was no concussion of the brain, and the patient would be all right in a couple of days.

Bradley didn't sleep much that night. Next morning the captain sent for him. When the second mate entered the stateroom he found the skipper sitting on the edge of the berth with a big bandage on his head, but looking very bright and like himself.

He seemed oddly embarrassed when Bradley came in. For a moment or two he did not speak. The second mate, who had expected a scolding rebuke and was prepared to meet it, was surprised at the mildness of the first remark.

"Now, then, Brad," said Captain Titcomb, "set down. What's this about you and the mate? Tell the whole yarn, first and last."

"So Bradley told it just as it happened—the crew's behavior, his suspicions, the sighting of the light and what followed."

"Humph!" Captain Ezra nodded. "Yup, that's about what Burke said. Now, Brad, I s'pose you knew that Mr. Burke was your superior officer and that what he said was law for you, didn't you?"

"Yes, sir, but—"

"Never mind the 'buts' now. Taking command by force is serious—mighty serious."

"I did what I thought was right, Cap'n Ezra—that I believed you'd think was right. The schooner would have been aground in ten minutes if I hadn't."

"Well, s'pose she would. There'd have been no lives lost. Plenty of boats and a smooth sea."

"But Mr. Burke knew she was headed for the shoals. He must have known it. The owners would have—"

"What do you know about the owners and their affairs?"

"But the schooner?"

"She's a hulk, that's all—and insured."

The reply was an odd one, but the tone in which it was made was odder still. Strange things had happened during the past week; Captain Titcomb's silent humor, the interview the day before leaving New York, the sudden change of mates, the skipper's studied indifference to the demoralization among the crew, Burke's frantic determination to keep on the course set by him even after the proximity to the shoals had been proved beyond a doubt—all these were fingers pointing in one direction. Bradley, however, had not looked in that direction. But now the last wisps of fog blew away and he saw clearly.

"Cap'n Ez!" he gasped. "Cap'n Ez! Were you going to wreck her on purpose?"

The captain shifted in his seat, but did not look at his companion. "Orders are orders," he said. "Mr. Burke was your skipper—with me out of the way—and you ought to have minded him, just as I should my owners."

"Wreck a vessel for her insurance," groaned Bradley. "I didn't think you'd do it, Cap'n Ez. I didn't think you'd do it."

The dismay, the griefed disappointment and horror in his friend's tone, seemed to hurt Captain Titcomb sorely. He glanced at Bradley and then looked away again.

"I've heard all sorts of yarns about you in Orham," went on Bradley. "They say you're too smart and that you'll bear watching and all that. I've called those that said it liars, and I've stood by you through thick and thin. But now—What do you think they'd say if they knew of this? What do you think Miss Pelsy and Miss Tempy would say? Why, they believe you're the best!"

The captain broke in testily. "Never mind all that," he said. "As for Squaller Wilcox and Jabe Bailey's yarn, I don't care a snap. And the old maids ain't exactly up to date in this world's way of lookin' at things. S'pose the old Doane was booked for thundering by the shoal route—what of it? Mind, I only say s'pose. Better to go that way on a smooth night, with all hands saved, than to bust up in a squall and drown us all, as was likely to happen any minute. Nobody loses but the insurance folks, and they'd lose quick enough anyhow. Why, it's done a hundred times a year all along this coast. Member when the Bay Queen picked up on the beach off Setucket last summer? Everybody was as sartin as could be that 'twas done a-purpose, but you couldn't prove nothin'. So with the Rhoda Horton and the Banner and any quantity more. S'pose—mind, I'm only s'posin'—that you'd got orders from your owners—orders, you understand—to do something you didn't like? S'pose you'd always stuck to owners' orders a good deal closer'n you had to the Bible? You talk a lot. So do other folks. But what would you have done?"

"I'd have been honest and said 'No.'"

"Humph! Well, I guess you would. You're the nearest thing to an honest man that I've run across yet. Honesty is the best policy, they say. But was it honesty that made half the millionaires? Are Williams Bros. rich because they're always been honest? Josh Bangs is in the poorhouse, and he's the most honest critter in Orham, while his brother Sol is chairman of school committee, deacon in the church, has money in the bank and would skin the eye-teeth out of a down-east horse jockey. Why?"

"Cap'n Ez," interrupted Bradley, "stop talkin' that way. You don't believe a word of it. I know you do well. The trouble with you is that everlasting 'owners' orders." I almost think that that accident last night, as Miss Tempy would say, 'sent' to keep you from doing something you'd be sorry for all the rest of your days."

"The captain looked at the speaker oddly. "Then you 'callate,' he said, "that I ought to thank God Almighty and a tipsy to-mast hand for savin' what the book folks would call my honor? That's all right; only wait till Williams Bros. send me their thanks on a clean plate with gilt do-dads round the edges. Williams Bros. and your particular friend, Mr. Burke, ain't been heard from yet, my son. Well, Brad, I s'pose you'll be packin' up tonight anyway. An honest man, 'ordin' to your log, ain't needed on the Thomas Doane. I told you you ought to ship 'board the Arrow."

"I didn't ship on the Arrow because I'd rather be with you than anybody else on earth. I wouldn't sail with a rascal that would wreck a schooner, and I don't believe—I know you're not a rascal. Oh, can't you see? It isn't myself I'm thinking about—it's you—you!"

The captain took his knife from his pocket and whittled a corner off the cabin table before replying. Then he said slowly:

"Much obliged, Brad. But what do you s'pose Williams Bros. will want me to do when they give me orders for this liner's next trip?"

"I don't know."

"S'pose those orders are the same as the last, what then?"

"Then say 'No,' like an honest man."

"Cap'n Ezra gave a short laugh. "Honesty, my son, is like d'monds sometimes—it's pretty, but it comes high. You turn in. I'm goin' to set up awhile and smoke."

Bradley reluctantly went to bed, but when he awoke, several hours later, he heard the captain stirring in his stateroom.

Next morning the skipper received a telegram.

"Williams Bros., havin' heard from friend Burke, want to have a little chat with the commander of the clipper Thomas Doane," he remarked to Bradley. "That doctor squiggle'n my mainpaw with his physic stuff has made me feel A. I again. I'm goin' to New York tonight on the Fall River line."

And he went, leaving Mr. Burke in command of the schooner, a state of affairs not too delightful to Bradley. But the captain's story was a short one. He was back on board early the second morning and called the second mate into the cabin.

"Well, Brad," he said, "I got my orders."

"Yes, sir," anxiously. "What were they?"

"'Bout the same as the last."

"And—what did you say?"

"Orders are orders," he said. "Mr. Burke was your skipper—with me out of the way—and you ought to have minded him, just as I should my owners."

"Wreck a vessel for her insurance," groaned Bradley. "I didn't think you'd do it, Cap'n Ez. I didn't think you'd do it."

Bradley reluctantly went to bed, but when he awoke, several hours later, he heard the captain stirring in his stateroom.

Next morning the skipper received a telegram.

know that he's done a 'good deal' better than that. The old man told me how much he had in the bank, and it wasn't to be sneezed at. Now, I could buy that schooner of his cheap. She isn't much, and money would have to be spent on her, but she'd do for a start. You understand, the wreckin' business I'd do wouldn't be anchor draggin' alone. There's money in a first class wreckin' plant on Cape Cod. Wrecks! Why, they pile up there three deep every winter. Now, listen a minute, while I rise to blow."

Bradley listened, and the captain talked. He had evidently given much thought to this proposition, and his plans were ambitious. He believed that if a capable man bought the Lizzie—that was the name of the Burgess schooner—added to her equipment and sailed her himself he could build up a profitable business. The salvage of cargoes, of stranded schooners and of the schooners themselves played a large part in his plans. One or two good sized jobs of this kind taken on a commission basis would bring in capital enough to warrant the purchase of a bigger vessel, fitted with auxiliary power, fitted with a diving equipment, derricks and the like.

"But wouldn't that take capital?"

"Sartin sure. But let me—us—prove that the profit's there and the capital'll be donated, like frozen potatoes at a minister's surprise party. Oh, I've thought it out! Now, here!"

The captain's plan for Bradley's co-operation was, briefly stated, just this: He (Captain Titcomb) would provide the money for buying the Lizzie and whatever else was immediately necessary. Bradley would contribute his savings to the pile. They were to be partners on equal shares, but Bradley was to pay from his share of whatever profits might come from time to time the amount necessary to make his investment the equal of the captain's. No new move was to be made without the consent of both partners. It was a very generous offer, and Bradley said so.

"No generosity about it," protested Captain Ezra. "I'm lookin' out for myself, and need you, as the tipsy man said to the lamp post. I tell you, honest, I shan't go into this thing unless you go in with me. Maybe it's a fool notion anyway. Well, there, he concluded, 'now that I've unloaded my mind, we'll go down to the Cape this afternoon. I'll look round, and you take a week to think things over in. At the end of the week you can say 'Yes' or 'No.'"

"They caught the 4 o'clock train for Orham."

The "old maids" were washing the supper dishes when Bradley surprised them by walking into the dining room. When the first shock was over the sisters were the most delighted pair in Orham. They insisted on preparing a brand new meal for their "boy," and no amount of protestation on his part could change their minds.

They were very curious to know why Bradley had come home so unexpectedly, and when they learned that he had left the Thomas Doane and not only that, but that the captain also had left, they asked one question after another. Bradley simply said that the captain had other plans and that he couldn't tell what they were yet.

After supper they adjourned to the sitting room. Bradley was uneasy and several times glanced at the clock. After awhile he said that, if they didn't mind, he should like to go out for an hour or so. Of course, the sisters said, they didn't mind, and he put on his hat and went.

Miss Prissy's shrewd guess wasn't far wrong. Bradley passed out of the Allen gate only to open the one of the yard adjoining. His knock at the side door apparently started a canine insurrection, for there was a tremendous barking and growling inside, and when old Mrs. Baker answered the knock the heads of Tuesday and Wednesday, the only survivors of Gus' troop of pets, protruded from either side of her skirt. Both dogs and old lady were surprised and glad to see the visitor.

"Why, Bradley Nickerson!" exclaimed Mrs. Baker. "How do you do? Come right in, won't you? No, Gustie ain't in just now. It's prayer meetin' 'n'ight, and she thought she'd go. Well, I'm sorry you won't step in and wait."

The Bakers attended the Baptist church, and thither walked Bradley, his hands in his pockets and his head full of the wrecking scheme.

It was nearly 9 o'clock, and the fence in front of the little church was ornamented by a row of Orham young men who were waiting for the meeting to come to an end.

Bradley joined the fence brigade and was hailed by half a dozen acquaintances, mostly old schoolfellows. He heard all the news and a lot more that might become news if it ever happened.

"Sam Hammond was down last month," so Hart Sears informed him. "Talk about 'dudes'! Say, Snuppy, wasn't he a hull-cooler?"

"I should smile if he wa'n't," replied "Snuppy" Black. "Gold watch—and clothes! You never saw such clothes! Sam's working for the Metropolitan Wrecking company, and he must be getting rich. And he has a good time in New York. Member those yarns about the girls, Hart?"

Sears laughed and winked knowingly. "Sam's a great teller for girls," he observed. "He was chasin' 'em down here. I tell you. Gus Baker was the one he chased most, but Gus can keep him guessin'. He ain't the only one that's been runnin' after her—hey, Snup?" Then the whole row laughed unmercifully.

COMEDY IN MODERN SMUGGLING

An Incident in Europe That Was Very Funny.

Smuggling in these days is far removed from the grim realities which characterized it 70 years ago. A charming piece of light comedy which quite recently took place in the Grisons brings this fact into clear relief. The game is now so little dangerous that girls in their nonage can play it, even with the glamor of armed conflict thrown in.

Two sisters named Bachero, aged 17 and 19, were engaged in getting a quantity of contraband tobacco from the Swiss to the Italian side of the frontier when they were surprised by two customs officers in the Stillerjoch Pass.

Instead of being a ground for alarm, this was merely the cue for an episode worthy of light opera. While the elder of the two sisters pushed on as rapidly as possible with her load, the younger, with all the coolness of a brigand of romance, posted herself behind a ledge of rock and opened fire upon the officers with a rifle. It was not that she aimed at them with any serious intent. Bloodshed, indeed, was no part of the program. It was enough to burn powder, and plenty of it. The officers, finding themselves under fire, naturally took cover and returned it.

This went on for about half an hour without any harm being done, and indeed, so far as the fair girl smuggler was concerned, without any being intended. Her sole purpose was to keep the enemy in check till her companion had got far enough ahead to be secure. As soon as she judged that this had been done, she slung her rifle and, slipping away by the impossible mountain tracks familiar only to smugglers, made good her retreat to rejoin her sister on the other side of the border. Both escaped, leaving the officers with a painful sense of having been laughingly outwitted.—Bernese correspondence. Pall Mall Gazette.

SCOTCH LAD GOT EVEN.

He Turned the Joke on the Yankee Tourist.

An American tourist on a visit to Glasgow, on emerging from the railway station, was accosted by a lad with the familiar shout of "Carry your bag, sir?"

The gentleman handed the boy the bag and requested to be shown through Glasgow.

Crossing George's square, they came opposite to Sir Walter Scott's monument, and the boy said proudly:

"That is one of the largest monuments in Scotland."

"Oh, said the Yankee, with an air of indifference, "we have threepenny cigars as big as that in America."

They got onto a tram car going east, and just as they alighted at the terminus a long circular piece of iron on a heavy draw-by-12 horses came up the street.

The American, in surprise, asked the boy what that was for. The boy, remembering what the Yankee had said about the cigars, and with a resolve to be even with him, replied:

"Oh, a new hotel has just been built in the Toongate, and that is the kitchen poker."

The Potato Monument.

"If I ever get rich enough to present the city of New York with a monument I am going to give a copy of one I saw in Germany this summer," said a man who travels. "That is the most sensible thing in the statue line I ever saw. It is a monument to potatoes. It is certainly unique. The upper part consists of a statue to Sir Francis Drake, who is revered for having introduced the plant into Europe. This, as well as the pedestal, is draped with garlands of the potato vine, with the full grown tubers intact. On the pedestal are inscriptions. The first sets forth that the above figure is Sir Francis; the second explains in words of highest praise what a blessing the potato has been to mankind; the third records that the statue is the gift of a certain Andrew Frederick, of Strasburg; the fourth contains the names of the erectors. It strikes me that a monument to some valuable product of nature is much more appropriate than all the stone effigies of celebrities that cluster our parks at the present time."

Wrong Man.

While Dooly was holding court in Washington county, Georgia, a certain Gen. Hanson came in and sat down at the side of the judge, and began to tell him about the vast amounts of property he owned.

"Stop just a moment, general," said Dooly. "Mr. Sheriff, call in Jones, the receiver of tax returns."

In a few moments that worthy appeared.

"Mr. Receiver," said the judge, "come up here and make an inventory of Gen. Hanson's property. He had mistaken me for you."—Sunday Magazine.

Different Shades.

The celebrated musician rapped three times on the black cabinet.

"And now, kind sir," she said, in a spooky voice, "what shade would you like me to tell you about?"

"Why," replied the little man in the audience, "I would like you to tell me the shades my wife told me to match when I started down town to-day."—Chicago Daily News.

The Great Restorative Non-Alcoholic TONIC

of the day, made entirely of native medicinal roots and without a drop of alcohol in its composition, is known as

DR. PIERCE'S GOLDEN MEDICAL DISCOVERY.

There are no secrets about its composition—all its ingredients being printed on the bottle-wrappers.

The "Golden Medical Discovery" not only builds up the strength of the feeble, debilitated, languid, nervous and easily fatigued, whether young or aged, but it enriches and purifies the blood, thus making the improvement lasting.

It corrects and overcomes indigestion, dyspepsia, biliousness, torpid liver, chronic diarrhea and kindred derangements of the stomach, liver and bowels.

Bronchial, throat and laryngeal affections, attended with hoarseness, persistent cough, and all manner of catarrhal affections are cured by the "Golden Medical Discovery."

In Chronic Nasal Catarrh, it is well to cleanse the nasal passages out freely with Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy fluid while taking the "Golden Medical Discovery" as a constitutional treatment. Old obstinate cases of catarrh yield to this thorough course of treatment.

Through enriching and purifying the blood, the "Discovery" cures scrofulous affections, also blotches, pimples, eruptions, and other ugly affections of the skin. Old, open, running sores, or ulcers, are healed by taking the "Golden Medical Discovery" internally and applying Dr. Pierce's All-Healing Salve as a local dressing. The Salve can be had of druggists, or will be sent by return mail on receipt of 50 cents in stamps. Address Doctor Pierce as below for it.

In short "Golden Medical Discovery" regulates, purifies and invigorates the whole system and thus cures a very large range of diseases. The reason why it cures such a varied list of diseases is made clear in a little booklet of extracts from the leading medical authorities, compiled by Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., and which he will be pleased to send post-paid and entirely free to any who send him their names and addresses.

You can't afford to accept a substitute of unknown composition for this non-secret MEDICINE OF KNOWN COMPOSITION.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure constipation. Constipation is the cause of many diseases. Cure the cause and you cure the disease. One "Pellet" is a gentle laxative, and two a mild cathartic. Druggists sell them, and nothing is just as good. They are the original Little Liver Pills first put up by old Dr. Pierce over 40 years ago. Much imitated, but never equaled. They are tiny sugar-coated granules—easy to take as candy.

Dr. Pierce's Medical Adviser (1000 pages) is sent free on receipt of 21 one-cent stamps (to cover cost of mailing) for paper-covered, or 31-stamps for cloth-bound copy. Address Dr. Pierce as above.

Man to Blame.

Women are more prone to deceit than men, says Good Words. From the time when Scheherazade told her lord 1,001 lies to keep the peace it has been the accepted way. And the blame, not the women, are the most to blame. It is what they like and they get it.

Good London Story.

Occasionally they manufacture a good story in London. One of the latest tells of a family passionately devoted to bridge, which was plunged into mourning by the loss of the father. A discussion arose as to whether the deceased would have chosen to be buried or cremated. The decision was left to the eldest son, who, looking at his mother, said: "I will leave it to you, to which the lady replied: 'I make it spades.'"

Snappy.

"Why, how d'y do?" began Dunn, meeting Sloppy on the street, "I thought I'd call up and see you about that little account—"

"Indeed?" interrupted Sloppy, "it's just as easy for me to call down."

"Ah! and when will you call down?" "I consider this a call down. Do you want me to make it stronger?"—Philadelphia Press.

Valuable Product.

During the last ten years the single product of sisal fiber has yielded in Yucatan the enormous sum of 297,000,000 Mexican silver dollars.

FORMED OPEN AIR CLUBS.

Campers in San Francisco Parks Didn't Suffer Much.

Miss Marguerite Robinson of New York reached Denver the other day from San Francisco. Her brother-in-law, W. O. Evans, was with her. They stayed for three days in Jefferson, Alamo and Golden Gate parks, says a Denver dispatch. Mr. Evans said:

"We did not suffer much. We got acquainted with five other persons in Golden Gate park, and all clubbed together in one camp. Others did the same way. We dug up an old tin trunk, found a pipe and made a stove out of the trunk and cooked some good meals upon it."

"Food was plentiful, and we did not suffer for a moment, and we did not see any one else that was suffering. The reports say that every one was frenzied, but I didn't see it. People were unusually calm. Even the women were not hysterical, and everybody was the soul of kindness to their suffering neighbors."

Feared Brigand Chief.

How strong is the influence of the brigand in Sicily is shown in recent proceedings at the Coltanissetta, as sizes, where four of the band of the notorious Chief Fallia Molone were to be tried. The jurymen and witnesses, instead of appearing, sent a joint petition to the court, praying to be excused so long as the chieftain, who has already a dozen assassinations to answer for, remained uncaptured.

NOTES OF THE RAILWAYS

Coral For Ballast Used by Road Through Florida Keys.

GREAT ENGINEERING PROJECT

Western Pacific Railroad to Build Tunnels to Enter California—Forty-five Miles to Be Made—Pennsylvania Caboose to Have Whistles—Mexican Wood For Ties—Warning Laborers by Megaphone.

There is a section of the United States where coral is exceedingly popular as ballast for railroads, says the New York Tribune. American railroad builders have used nearly every conceivable material for roadbed, from solid granite to the shifting sands of the great southwestern desert, held together by growing vines. But it remained for the Florida East Coast railway to construct a roadbed out of material which, according to a fashion note, is growing in popularity as jewelry.

The portion of the Florida road upon which it has been found feasible to use coral as ballast is in the extension from Miami to Key West, along the Florida Keys. The reason for such use is patent to the student of geology. The keys through which the road runs are composed of it. Coral rock is the only thing obtainable except by long transportation. Many of the islands are a long way from the mainland. But a beautiful and exceedingly substantial roadbed is being constructed out of the coral rock. It is glistening white, like a great band of satin ribbon, on which the little islands, with their luxuriant tropical growth, are strung like a necklace of emerald beads. It is more truly a gem studded band, uniting Key West to the Florida shore.

The road, which was conceived in the mind of Henry M. Flagler as a part of his plan to join Cuba with the United States by an all rail route, is remarkable in more than one particular. Much of the roadbed is being constructed in water thirty or more feet deep. Forests of trees are being used for piling, and tons upon tons of concrete are being dumped on top to form a substantial highway through the ocean. When this unique railway is done the traveler will, in places, be speeding along entirely out of sight of land. He will practically go to sea in a railway train. Nothing will greet his eye at times but the wide expanse of blue waters where the Atlantic and the Gulf meet. The new line will cost from $15,000,000 to $20,000,000 to build. It is expected to be completed in three years.

The Western Pacific railroad is perfecting plans to enter California, and when the road is completed it will be one of the greatest railroad engineering feats in modern times, says a San Francisco special dispatch to the Brooklyn Eagle. The engineers in charge have instructions to keep one object in view—the straightest line with the least grade. To accomplish this forty-five tunnels will be bored in eastern California between Oroville and Beckwith pass. Instead of going around mountains the Western Pacific is going through them.

The longest of the tunnels is that at the head of Spring Garden, twelve miles east of Quincy. This is cut under the ridge dividing the north and middle forks of the Feather river. It will be more than 7,000 feet in length when completed. The next longest tunnel on the road will be the one under Beckwith pass. This will be over 4,000 feet in length, and it is being bored at both ends. The third tunnel will probably be the most difficult engineering feat of all, as it will be cut through solid rock for a distance of 1,200 feet. This will be north of Quincy, on Spanish creek.

The Pennsylvania railroad is to equip two freight cabooses on each division of the system with a compressed air whistle, similar to those on passenger trains, as an experiment, and if it works well all freight caboos will be similarly equipped, says the Cleveland Plain Dealer. The purpose is to make it possible for a flagman to signal his engineer when he has caught up to his train after having been back to give warning while his train was at a standstill. The caboose whistle will also be used for signaling when a stop is desired.

Arrangements have been completed at New Orleans by a company of the City of Mexico to ship 1,000 railroad ties a day to New Orleans for the use of the various railroads which are building there. The ties will all be of the zapote wood, which is harder than mahogany and which is not affected by water, says the New Orleans Picayune. Dr. Lorenzo Syper, who is representing the company, said that the wood had been tried in Mexico for ties, and it had been found that the minimum life of a tie of this wood was fifty years.

With the work that is going on along the tracks of the New York Central road in installing the electric system comes a new development of the use of the megaphone, says the New York Press. Attached to every gang of laborers who are at work on the tracks is a boy who is armed with a fine megaphone, who watches for the approach of a train. As soon as one gets as near the gang of track men as is safe he shouts a warning to them, and they pile out of the way. These boys are always Italians, and they seem to enjoy hugely the authority that is invested in them with the wide mouthed speaking trumpet.

Call 'Em an Isosceles Triangle. The cure for profanity—reformers and educators please make a note— is merely wit enough to handle your words so that swearing will seem like baby talk in comparison.—Concord Patriot.

AN EPISODE OF THE LATE WAR

[Original.] My passport described me as being six feet high, light hair and blue eyes. I obtained it for the purpose of visiting the Japanese army in Manchuria just before the battle of Mukden. I was received by a member of the staff, who examined the passport, comparing me with it very carefully. Notwithstanding that the Japanese are a secretive people, I noticed that the officer had something on his mind, and that something pertained to me. However, when he had done with the passport he handed it back to me, apparently satisfied, and asked me what he could do for me. I replied that I had come all the way from America to see some of the war from the Japanese side. He promised to report my arrival to Marshal Oyama. He did so, and when he returned bore an invitation from the marshal for me to ride with him on a tour of the outposts.

"During the ride I was under the especial care of the man who had received me, Major Seshimo, who pointed out the different objects of interest. I was introduced to the marshal, who expressed himself sensible of the sympathy the Japanese cause had received in America. When we returned to headquarters I was about to take my leave, when Major Seshimo told me that a tent had been provided for me with the staff. I much preferred to remain independent and declined, but the major informed me that a refusal of an honor that was intended for me as an American and not as an individual would be displeasing to the marshal, and I at once accepted the hospitality.

The next morning Major Seshimo asked me to come to his tent for a smoke, and while I was there a Russian prisoner was brought up. The major asked me if I spoke any Russian, and I replied that I did not. He then began to question the man himself in that language and seemed to get on fairly well. I listened to what I did not understand. Suddenly the major turned to me and asked:

"What do you think of that?"

"You forget, major, that I do not speak Russian," I replied.

"True," he said, "I forgot."

Somewhat I got the idea that he was trying to betray me into admitting a knowledge of the Russian language.

The next morning I told Major Seshimo that I had seen all I desired to see of an army at the front and was about to take my leave, thanking him for the hospitality. He said that I must by all means wait over another day—that a party among whom were several ladies were expected to visit headquarters and the marshal wished me to meet them. Since he would take no refusal I consented.

The party were English with the exception of one very pretty woman, a Bulgarian. We all dined with the marshal, the Bulgarian lady being assigned to me as a dinner companion. During the meal she whispered to me:

"I know who you are. You are thus far safe. When you leave take with you the paper I have slipped into your pocket. It contains information for which I am to receive a hundred thousand rubles. I will give you two-thirds of it. If I get away I will meet you at Vladivostok. But I am suspected and have little hope. If I am lost all will belong to you."

What could I do? Betray a woman to death who had placed her life in my hands? I sat, cold chills alternating with fever till the dinner had ended. The next day the party were taken about to see what was interesting to them, and I saw clearly that I was expected to accompany them. I did so, but before leaving destroyed the paper the woman had slipped into my pocket. She did not attempt to communicate with me during the ride except as any one else would do so. When we returned to headquarters I noticed that something had happened during our absence. By the interest which seemed to attach to me I could not but suspect that this something pertained to me. A certain constraint that I had noticed in every one I met seemed to have disappeared. Indeed, all seemed desirous to atone for something. I announced my intention to leave during the day, but all joined in a sincere request that I would remain for one more dinner. I consented, and we made a gay party that night at table.

I was placed beside the Bulgarian woman again and dined a repetition of the events of the previous night. While the dinner was in progress the marshal addressed me:

"What did you do with the information for General Kurapatkin?"

I looked at the woman who had given it to me, then at the marshal. My heart was beating the long roll.

"Burned it," I replied.

"Wisely done. I owe you an explanation and an apology. The day of your arrival among us we got wind of a Russian spy answering your description. We did not like to offend an innocent person, especially an American, so we have kept you under surveillance. You must not blame the lady who slipped the paper in your pocket, for she only did it at my request and to give you an opportunity to prove that you were what you pretended to be. However, we now know that we have been mistaken in you, for today the real spy was captured with incriminating documents on him. He is exactly your height, with your light hair and blue eyes."

The next morning as I left the headquarters I passed the spy going to his execution. I shuddered and hurried on. I had had enough of seeing war at the front.

FARMERS' WEEK AT OKLAHOMA COLLEGE

Short Course in Agricultural College—Two Exhibitions of Fine Feathered Stock.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Guthrie, Okla., Jan. 7.—The third annual "Farmers' Week" held under the auspices of the Oklahoma Agricultural and Mechanical College began today under conditions promising a most successful session. A large number of farmers, representing all parts of the new state, expected today and many more are expected tomorrow. Every man shows the keen interest of a student in endeavoring to learn from the lectures and demonstrations all that he possibly can in the unique school for the farmer. Men whose hair is streaked with gray show the same amount of enthusiasm as their younger associates. A considerable portion of the week will be occupied with the presentation of the principles which should govern the selection of seed for farm crops, particularly as regards corn, Kaffir corn, cotton, wheat and oats. Instruction is to be given in the selection of horses, cattle, hogs, sheep and poultry by college instructors, assisted by specialists secured for the course.

Atlanta Poultry Show. Atlanta, Ga., Jan. 7.—A feathered festival opened in this city today, the occasion being the fourth annual show of the Atlanta Poultry association. Nearly 1,500 fowls are on exhibition and they include prize-winning birds from half a dozen states. The display of pigeons is especially notable. The exhibition this year also includes a keen department that compares favorably in the number and high-class of its entries with any of the bench shows held in the south. The exhibition will continue for four days and judging from the attendance at the opening the number of visitors will be very large.

Colorado Poultry Show. Denver, Colo., Jan. 7.—The eighth annual championship poultry show of Colorado opened in Coliseum hall today and will continue through the week. Blue-ribbon turkeys, chickens, ducks, pigeons, rabbits and other varieties of poultry and pet stock from Colorado and all the neighboring states make up the exhibition. Many visiting fanciers are in the city to attend the show.

TEXAS CATTLE MEN VERSUS RAILWAYS

Rate Discrimination Alleged and Legality of Terminal Charge Questioned.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Chicago, Jan. 7.—Two cases brought by the Cattle Raisers' Association of Texas naming a number of railroads as defendants, the first case alleging rate discriminations on interstate shipments of live stock and the second case involving the legality of the $2 terminal charge on carload shipments of cattle at the Union stockyards in this city, came up for hearing today before the Interstate Commerce Commission. Both cases have been heard before by the commission and decided in favor of the cattlemen. But neither of the decisions was enforced under the old railroad rate law because of the fact that the commission had no rate making power. After the new law went into effect the Texas cattle raisers and the Chicago live stock exchange revived the cases and filed new complaints, which were taken up by the commission today.

CALIFORNIA LABOR LEADERS CONVEENE

Discuss Strengthening of Unions, San Francisco Situation and Japanese Invasion.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Stockton, Cal., Jan. 7.—The men who furnish the brains and push of the organized labor movement in this state were present in force today at the opening of the annual convention of the California Federation of Labor. The session promises to be one of unusual interest and importance to the federation and its members. The labor situation in San Francisco and the so-called invasion of Japanese workmen are two of the important matters to receive attention. Plans for increasing the membership and otherwise strengthening the federation also will be discussed.

STEAMERS COLLIDE AT NAPLES.

Prinzessin Irene and Moltke Crash—Passengers in Panic.

Naples, Jan. 7.—Lloyds reports that the North German Lloyd steamer Prinzessin Irene, in leaving port Saturday night for New York, was caught in a strong windstorm and damaged. She was obliged to re-enter the harbor and early Sunday morning collided with the steamer Moltke. Both were damaged and will be compelled to remain here three weeks for repairs.

The 950 passengers on board the Prinzessin Irene became panic stricken when the collision occurred and several of them were slightly injured.

Whist Star Renounces Cards. Des Moines, Ia., Jan. 7.—Mrs. A. B. Sims, prominent in Des Moines society and holder of the national whist championship, created a sensation in Des Moines Sunday by denouncing whist playing at the morning services of the University Place Church of Christ, and declaring that she never again would touch cards.

Russian Peasant Leader Dies. St. Petersburg, Jan. 7.—The death is reported in the province of Kiev after a long illness of Stephan Vasilievich Annikin, the foremost leader of the peasants, founder of the Group of Toil and ex-member of the lower house of parliament.

True. There are men who never go ahead because they are so sure they are right.—Judge.

SARATOGA TO LOSE G. A. R. ENCAMPMENT

City Failed to Comply with Conditions Imposed and Meeting May Go to Indianapolis.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Zanesville, O., Jan. 7.—Pursuant to the call of Commander-in-Chief R. B. Brown, members of the national executive committee of the Grand Army of the Republic gathered here today for a special meeting to discuss the location for the national encampment this year. The encampment was to have been held at Saratoga, which city was selected at the Minneapolis convention last fall, but the famous summer resort has failed to comply with certain conditions imposed and as a result it is more than likely that a change of location will be definitely decided upon. Several cities have sent representatives to the meeting here with invitations for the encampment in the event of its being taken away from Saratoga.
